and allow his horses to start.

Judge Morrow was a strong favorite for the opening race at a mile, but Pullizer did not lack support. The favorite sulked all the way, and Pullizer found it an easy matter to lead from start to finish and win, hard held.

Three very bad fillies contended for the second purse, and the betting over them was even lighter than on the opening race. Melody acted as pacemaker throughout, and won in a romp by three-parts of a length. Virago was slightly isme, but managed to beat Mie Mac Queen for the place.

The first witness was Christopher Mc The first witness was Christopher McCormick, who was in the saloon at the time the murder was committed. He saw Powers and Delmour together. The former was crazed with drink, and, without a word of warning. Powers pulled a revolver and shot Delmour through the heart. The witness saw the wounded man start towards the hallway, where he fell and died.

John Hogan was standing outside the saloon when the shot was fired and saw Delmour fall in the hallway.

James Gorman, the bartender in the saloon, was the next witness. He said the two men did not even have an argument, and that Powers shot without any cause. He was crazy drunk at the time, and, the witness said, he "saw fire flashing from his eyes."

The official returns, as tabulated as hoped to carry.

The official returns, as tabulated at Police Headquarters to-day, show that Nicholas T. Brown, the Tammany candidate in the Second District, has been elected over William H. Kilboy, the Republican choice, by a vote of 3,978 to 3,964. This gives Brown a plurality of 25.

In the Sixteenth District the count shows Francis F. Lantry, the Tammany candidate, received 3.82 votes against 3.604 for Thomas F. Eagan, Republican

It was in the Twenty-fourth District that Tammany lost its grip on the Al-dermanic Board. The official figures show that Joseph Schilling, Republican was elected by a vote of 3,737 against was elected by a vote of 3,737 against 3,592 for John Long, Tammany.

Up to the time the official result was given out Candidate Klibby claimed a plurality of 30, and Brown insisted that he was elected by 21 votes.

As it stands now the Republicans have 16 votes in the Board and Tammany 14. Eves with the vote of the President of the Board—a Grace Democrat—Tammany will still be one behind.

For a year at least he will make these pastoral visits through the country. The arrangements for Dr. Talmage's tour will be made in the office of the Christian Herald.

Louis Klopsch, editor of the Christian Herald, said this afternoon:
"It is the Doctor's sole ambition to make these pastoral visits. He believes that through the burning of three churches Providence has in an unmis takable manner implicated that he is not to confine his efforts to one congregation. Besides, his congregation has raised in twenty-five years over $1,100,000 for church purposes. The vote on consolidation in Brooklyn began to look brighter this afternoon for the advocates of Greater New York, and from the indications of the official count so far it is reasonable to assume that it has been carried.

The official count for twenty-three wards in Brooklyn was completed this afternoon with only one or two districts still missing. The wards completed are the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Seven-
